unconventional song lyrics, but don't overlook the band's pioneering roots. While Red Hot Chili Peppers were a virtual unknown in Europe and other parts of the world when they first appeared in 1983, they immediately caught on as a top American band in the U.S. They started writing their own songs and became a favorite of MTV. Their debut, 1985's The Uplift Mofo Party Plan, was a success, and it was followed up with a move to a more hard rock sound, 1986's Blood Sugar Sex Magik. The album's biggest hit, "Under the Bridge," has also become the band's signature tune. Red Hot Chili Peppers quickly established themselves as one of the most successful bands of the 80s, and have since gone on to sell over 35 million albums and sell out concerts worldwide. Red Hot Chili Peppers came to the attention of millions of music fans after they opened for the Ramones on a tour in Europe in the summer of 1984. After a heated battle between the two bands, they went out to clubs and played each others' songs. Red Hot Chili Peppers are one of the first punk rock bands to play major music festivals. The band played at the 1990 Great American Rock Festival. Red Hot Chili Peppers are known for having unusual lyrics. John Frusciante is the band's primary lyricist, while band members Chad Smith and Flea are known for their unconventional singing styles. Red Hot Chili Peppers have also been noted for their openly "politically incorrect" attitude. Red Hot Chili Peppers have contributed their voice to the soundtrack of a number of films, including Blade Runner, Trippin' and Risky Business. 2d92ce491b
